CULTURAL PROGRAMME

Welcome to Bodø, 2024 European Capital of Culture, a city just above the Arctic Circle. It can seem shy in promoting itself but has plenty to show visitors who want to experience culture and nature, sometimes busting with life and other times quietly calm and comforting. It is a city that rebuilds itself repeatedly, both in an urban and cultural sense. You notice this in its eclectic architecture, lively food scene and unique cultural institutions, from small privately-owned galleries to significant national museums. In this guide, I have curated a lot of hidden gems for you. Some will be experienced on the main stage during opening and award ceremonies, some are included as separate "sessions" during the congress, and the rest are for you to explore on your own - complete with directions linked in the location address. I hope you will enjoy my hometown!

Marta Anna Løvberg, local artist and Communication Advisor at Nordland Research Institute.

CULTURAL PROGRAMME

WEDNESDAY 29 MAY 2024

15:30 – 17:00 EXHIBITION OPENING: ARCTIC STORYWORLDS: FROZEN MATTERS

The International Arctic Social Sciences Association (IASSA) invites you to the Arctic StoryWorlds: Frozen Matters exhibition opening at Siggeruds Galleri. Curated by Olga Zaslavskaya, Vera Kuklina, and Tatiana Degai, the exhibition is a journey into the heart of the Arctic environment, using storytelling as a medium to convey the intricate tapestry of this region.

StoryWorlds hints at a multi-layered, interconnected universe of narratives that may illuminate various facets of Arctic life, from its Indigenous cultures to the extraordinary biodiversity in this frozen realm. The phrase "Frozen Matters" goes beyond simply acknowledging the Arctic's cold conditions; it intends to delve deeply into the pivotal elements that define this unique environment. Using "Matters," the project declares its commitment to exploring and highlighting the significance of the Arctic. This exploration extends beyond the physical attributes of frozen landscapes to encompass environmental dynamics, cultural richness, scientific exploration, and even symbolic interpretations that might arise from the stark beauty of the Arctic.

The Arctic StoryWorlds: Frozen Matters project is a collaborative undertaking, bringing together scholars' expertise, artists' creativity, and Indigenous knowledge-holders' wisdom. This collective effort is a dynamic process that unfolds through various means, including art-science convergence meetings, immersive field studies, arts-based collaborations, talking circles, and crafty storytelling.

This exhibition will be open between 29 May and 8 June 2024.

Location: Siggeruds Galleri, Professor Schyttes gate 3 \(city centre\)

Admission: Free

12:00 – 16:00 EXHIBITION: GULLEVAŠ/GOLGOLAŠ

Gullevaš/Golgolaš is an exhibition featuring works by eight artists from Sápmi who explore ideas about home, belonging, identity and exclusion. The exhibition in Bodø Art Society brings together traditional duodji (Sámi crafts), painting, textiles, installations, films and sound art, all with a distinctive approach to materiality, architecture, reuse and improvisation. The participating artists are Elina Waage Mikalsen, Katarina Spik Skum, Anders Sunna, Matti Aikio, Olof Marsja, Sigbjørn Skåden, Ken Are Bongo and Joar Nango. Curated by Helga-Marie Nordby.

This is a collaborative project between Bodø Art Society and Bodø City Museum/Nordlandsmuseet and puts Sámi art and architecture on the map during Bodø 2024.

Location: Bodø Kunstforening \(Art Society\), Moloveien 10 \(city centre\)

Admission: Free

OPEN ALL DAY, GIRJEGUMPI-AMFI

Girjegumpi is a project that combines archives, art and research. The artist and architect Joar Nango initiated it as a platform for investigating and discussing Sámi architecture. What is Sámi architecture? What can Sámi architecture be? When is architecture an oppressive exercise of power? The name Girjegumpi combines two North Sámi words. A gumpi is a portable cabin on sled-runners, usually transported by a snowmobile. Girji means book. Girjegumpi consists of a library, an archive and the construction that preserves and transports them. Since 2018, Girjegumpi has travelled throughout Norway and abroad: to Helsinki, KIASMA in 2022, and the Venice Biennial of Architecture in 2023. During the congress, you will be able to see the outdoor part of the project, an amfi just outside of the Bodø City Museum. The indoor part will open on 19 June, but we recommend you take a walk, see the Amfi, and view the Girjegumpi world.

Girjegumpi is a nomadic project that changes in relation to whatever situation and context it is in; it develops dynamically through collaborating with artists, architects, professionals and institutions. Several artists contributing to Girjegumpi are also represented in the group exhibition Gullevaš/Golgolaš at Bodø Art Society.

This is a collaborative project between Bodø Art Society and Bodø City Museum/Nordlandsmuseet and puts Sámi art and architecture on the map during Bodø 2024.

14:00 – 15:00 CINEMA SCREENING: MUNKHA

Presentation of the cartoon Munkha by Tundra Animation, presented by Stanislav Ksenofontov:

In the snowy heart of Sakha Republic, Northeast Siberia, a little girl, Nyukku, embarks on her first Munkha, the Sakha traditional ice fishing. She believes that her “magic” mittens will help her catch many fish. Through this experience, guided by her father's wisdom, Nyukku learns a valuable lesson: true magic lies in the strength of family bonds and mutual support. Munkha is an important traditional practice transferred from generation to generation for centuries and a food source for the entire community, social cohesion, and cultural well-being.

The screening is a part of StoryWorlds: Frozen Matters exhibition.

12:00 – 16:00 EXHIBITION: VORTEX

An exhibition, Virvel (Vortex), by artist Morten Torgersrud, is in collaboration with the Lofoten International Art Festival (LIAF), the exhibition space NOUA, and the Borderland Museum. The exhibition consists of photographs from Torgersrud's immediate surroundings in Kirkenes, alongside a selection of photos by Ellisif Wessel from 1890–1920.

As a self-taught photographer, the revolutionary communist socialite woman Ellisif Wessel documented the multicultural life on the border with Russia amid the progress of industrialisation. When Torgersrud places Wessel's landscape photography side-by-side with found images and his photographs, it's as if the fluid transitions between the family album, archival materials and the viewfinders of the two photographers create a new, overriding subject. Wessel's photographs of waterfalls, rivers, trees, ice caps, coastlines and mountain ranges were taken in an era where industrialisation gained severe momentum and defined a border area characterised by continuous negotiation and displacement.

DIY CULTURAL WALKS

FIVE MUST-SEE CULTURAL SPOTS IN BODØ

THE JEKT TRADE MUSEUM

Explore the captivating maritime heritage of four centuries at the Jekt Trade Museum, awarded as Norway's best museum in 2024. With the towering presence of the jekt Anna Karoline at the centre stage of the exhibition, the museum offers close experiences and reflections with this ship and other historical artefacts. You will learn about the hardships and life on board, the significance of the Norwegian dried fish trade, power and powerlessness, profit and fish – all while enclosed by the smell of tar and dried fish.

The museum is surrounded by the Bodøsjøen Open-Air Museum, which features old, beautiful buildings that depict the life of a fisherman's family.

From June 1st, the museum will welcome you to the temporary exhibition "Coastal Women." The exhibition explores the central role of women in the fishing-farming community and how they also played a significant role in the economy. You will be introduced to three main elements: textiles, flossed bedrugs, and tools.

Location: The Jekt Trade Museum, Kvernhusveien 26

How to get there: Take a bus nr 2 (Universitetet) from Bodø Senter to Bodøgård and walk for approx. 600m.

Admission: 150 NOK (between 29 May and 3 June 2024 you will get a 20% discount with the Arctic Congress badge)

Opening hours:

EXHIBITION: TOWARDS THE NORTH/FROM THE NORTH

The exhibition consists of two separate but thematically related exhibitions.

Towards the North: Peder Balke (1804–1887) was the first Norwegian artist to depict Northern Norway with a characteristic expression. His original motifs and unique technique aroused interest across national borders, and he is today represented at several major museums nationally and internationally.

FROM THE NORTH – Øiesvold collection: A rare insight into the earliest printed documentation from the northern regions. Join us on the journey through Terje Øiesvold's collection of books and prints about the Northern Cape's pictorial history from 1550–1850.

Location: Bodøgård, Skeiddalen 2A

How to get there: Take a bus nr 2 (Universitetet) from Bodø Senter to Bodøgård and walk for approx. 40m.
